

Strategic Plan
2022

Preamble

The purpose of this preamble is to provide definitions for various terms used within the Strategic Plan. Franciscan University refers to the collection of twenty-four Catholic American universities that embrace a common mission to introduce and disseminate knowledge of Franciscan values and practices through their educational programs.

Community refers to all who are associated with Alvernia, including students, faculty, and staff at all locations and in all modalities as well as alumni and friends.

Reference to Alvernia's Franciscan heritage refers to the heritage that Alvernia University shares with the Bernardine Franciscan Sisters and includes the following two considerations. Through its direct connection to the Bernardine Franciscan Sisters, the foundresses of the University, Alvernia is directly connected to the larger historical and spiritual Franciscan legacy founded in the thirteenth century by Saint Francis of Assisi and Saint Clare of Assisi. At the same time, Alvernia University enjoys independence from, and generativity beyond, the Bernardine Franciscan Sisters by means of which the University has created its own distinctive Franciscan identity, mission, and heritage. Thus, Alvernia University has produced new avenues for Franciscan life and expression in the United States of America and elsewhere in the world.

The concept of stewardship aligns with a Franciscan perspective on sustainability when one views the environment as God's creation. Sustainability includes four interlinked dimensions: Environmental Responsibility (e.g., energy and water conservation, recycling, transportation, green space); Social Equity (e.g., shared decision making, sense of community, diverse campus community; equitable pay); Economic Health (e.g., purchasing locally manufactured items, hiring people from within the local community); and Cultural Vitality (e.g., values, heritage, sense of place, and retaining and respecting traditions). (Hawkes, 2006)

As a private institution working for the public good, Alvernia University is built upon a commitment to the community, evidenced, in part, by the development of high value partnerships. As good stewards of limited resources, Alvernia University actively seeks, and engages with, community partners to create mutually beneficial relationships.

The academic experience of the student at the University goes far beyond what happens in individual classrooms or courses. Although academics are central to the mission of the University, the student experience at Alvernia will be shaped by everything they encounter. In the classroom, students will be engaged and challenged, developing the skills they need to be successful upon graduation. Alvernia takes a holistic approach to the student experience, encouraging students to expand their horizons and participate fully in the life of the University through their participation in residence life, athletics, and co-curricular activities.

Alvernia's Comprehensive Regional University model embraces education that puts students and student outcomes at the center of all decisions by aligning human and financial resources to meet student developmental needs in a sustainable way. The model thrives on community partnership which allows us to create a comprehensive institution that offers a world-class, transformational (mind, body, spirit, and community) and affordable student experience while catalyzing economic and community development to ensure long-term sustainability for the University and the communities we serve.
