Housing Assignment Release

One of the biggest milestones of your summer is almost here —your housing assignment release! If you'll be living on campus this fall, you'll soon be able to view your residence hall, room number, and roommate information. This is often the moment when everything starts to feel real, and your excitement for joining the Alvernia community begins to grow.

Once your assignment is released, we encourage you to take some time to review your housing information carefully and connect with your roommate. Getting to know one another before Move-In Day is a great way to begin building your Alvernia community.

Whether you decide to coordinate what to bring, chat about your interests, or simply introduce yourselves, those first conversations can help make move-in day feel more comfortable and exciting.

Living on campus is one of the best ways to become part of the Alvernia community. From meeting neighbors on your floor and participating in residence hall events and experiencing campus traditions, your residence hall will quickly become a place where you feel at home.

Keep an eye on your Alvernia email for your housing assignment and additional updates from Residence Life.
